GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS

Based on your responses, the report has selected general statements to provide you with a broad understanding of your Customer Service Style. This section of the report identifies the natural customer service style you bring to the job.

Jane likes to win through persistence. She uses her strong, steady tendencies to accomplish her goals. She can be possessive and develop strong attachments for her work group, close friends and family. She likes to start and finish activities. Others who work with her know they can depend on her. She prefers to help and support others rather than compete against them. Jane is good at concentrating in order to listen and learn. She is not easily distracted by peripheral activity. She can be open, patient and tolerant of differences. Her natural quality of being nonjudgmental is a great strength. Because she is receptive and listens well, she excels in gathering information. She tends to be incisive and analytical. She is a good team member, but she will, if forced, go it alone. Jane strives to maintain the status quo, since she tends to resist change, particularly when it is unexpected or sudden. She is family-oriented. She may go to great lengths to ensure the "happiness" of her personal or work family. Loyalty and being a team player are usually her goals. She is a good, steady, dependable team member. She wins through hard work and persistence. She likes to stay with one task until it is completed.

Jane may tend to fight for her beliefs or those things she feels passionate about. Logic is important when trying to influence her. She pays more attention to logic than emotional

"hype." She may be reluctant to initiate new approaches to doing things. If she is shown the benefits, she will consider new procedures. She may want to think over major decisions before acting. She must be convinced that actions will produce the desired result. Once she makes a decision, she can be organized in carrying it out. Once she has arrived at a decision, she can be tough-minded and unbending. She has made her decision after gathering much data, and she probably won't want to repeat the process. She adheres to company policy and doesn't break the rules just for the sake of breaking them. She needs to gather data and facts in a logical fashion.

Jane tends to be possessive of information; that is, she doesn't voluntarily share information with others outside of her team. This may be a blessing, or a curse, to her superiors. She is more motivated by logic than emotion. To her, logic represents tangible research. She can be outgoing at times. Basically introverted, she will "engage" in social conversation when the occasion warrants. She is somewhat reserved with those she doesn't trust or know. After trust has been established, she may be open and candid. Jane does not enjoy confrontation for confrontation's sake. She feels she can win through patience and resolve. She likes to know what is expected of her in a working relationship and have the duties and responsibilities of others who will be involved explained. Communication is accomplished best by well-defined avenues. Sometimes she will withdraw from a verbal battle. If she feels strong about an issue, she may retreat to gather her resources and then return to take a stand! She may guard some information unless she is asked specific questions. She will not willingly share unless she is comfortable with the knowledge she possesses about the topic.

THE SUCCESS INSIGHTS® WHEEL

The Success Insights® Wheel is a powerful tool popularized in Europe. In addition to the text you have received about your behavioral style, the Wheel adds a visual representation that allows you to:

- View your natural behavioral style (circle).
- View your adapted behavioral style (star).
- Note the degree you are adapting your behavior.
- If you filled out the Work Environment Analysis, view the relationship of your behavior to your job.

Notice on the next page that your Natural style (circle) and your Adapted style (star) are plotted on the Wheel. If they are plotted in different boxes, then you are adapting your behavior. The further the two plotting points are from each other, the more you are adapting your behavior.

If you are part of a group or team who also took the behavioral assessment, it would be advantageous to get together, using each person's Wheel, and make a master Wheel that contains each person's Natural and Adapted style. This allows you to quickly see where conflict can occur. You will also be able to identify where communication, understanding and appreciation can be increased.
